

ESSAYS

Tea Is Coffee, Coffee Is Tea: Freedom in a Closed Room

By Ossama Mohammed Posted on July 31, 2019

Syrian filmmaker Oussama Mohammad discusses the conditions filmmakers faced under the Ba'athist regime in Syria, one of those being how only one film was produced every year, which kept experienced filmmakers from developing their craft.

Here is the link: https://post.at.moma.org/content_items/1312-tea-is-coffee-coffee-is-tea-freedom-in-a-closed-room?utm_medium=email&utm_campaign=MKT%20-%20post%20JULY%20newsletter%2020190812&utm_content=MKT%20-%20post%20JULY%20newsletter%2020190812+CID_32970dc0de76e500c3a05cc12e3e39d5&utm_source=campaignmonitor&utm_term=Tea%20Is%20Coffee%20Coffee%20Is%20Tea%20Freedom%20in%20a%20Closed%20Room